

Romania and Russia win 14 & Under Summer Cups titles

Romania and Russia have been crowned as 14 & Under Summer Cups champions after a frenetic week of play that saw 63 national teams in action across Europe.

Romania captured their first ever boys' title at the European Summer Cups with a 3-0 win over hosts Spain at the Copa del Sol finals in Magaluf, Mallorca. Fielding a team that featured two of the Tennis Europe Junior Tour's Top 10 players – Nicolae Frunza and Bogdan Borza - the top seeds were playing in the final for the first time but capitalised against a team that had not won the 14 & Under championship since 2002.

The two teams were facing each other for the second time in a week, with the match a repeat of the final Zone D qualifying match. The result was the same however, as European #8 Frunza survived a close first set to beat Pedro Martinez Portero 7-5 6-3 before #3 Borza put in a dominant performance to beat Jaume Antoni Munar Clar 6-3 6-3. With the tie decided, Ion Efrim teamed up with Frunza to beat Martinez Portero and Miguel Semmler 6-2 6-2.

Borza, who has won two singles and two doubles titles already this year, will rise to second in the rankings next week, while Frunza, who swept singles and doubles in Sliven, will also break into the Top 5. Romania had earlier ended France's three-year stranglehold on the tournament in decisive style in the semi finals, with Frunza beating Mandresy Rakotomalala 6-3 6-3 before Borza sealed a memorable victory with a titanic 6-7(2) 6-4 8-6 win over Ronan Joncour. Belarus later beat France in the play-off match to claim third place overall. >>

Wimbledon

The 125th edition of the Wimbledon Championships was a golden year for European players, as Novak Djokovic accomplished two of his childhood dreams - to become Wimbledon champion and world #1 - in the same weekend, and Petra Kvitova became the first Czech Grand Slam champion since Jana Novotna in 1998. For a full report, turn to page 11.

14 & Under European Summer Cups

<< Russia overcame a stern test from second seeds Serbia at the girls' Europa Cup finals in Loano, Italy. The top seeds and two-time defending champions took an early lead as Anastasia Rychagova beat Nikolina Jovic 6-3 6-2 in the opening match. Ivana Jorovic then caused an upset, levelling the tie with a 7-6(6) 6-4 win over European #2 Anastasiya Komardina.

Komardina and Rychagova have been this year's strongest doubles team on the Tennis Europe Junior Tour, amassing four titles, and were too strong for the Serbs in the deciding doubles match, winning 6-4 6-3 to claim an eighth European Summer Cups title for Russia's 14 & Under girls. Komardina's win was her 32nd consecutive doubles victory on the Tour, where she is unbeaten since last September.

Russia had also been tested in the semi finals against Great Britain, when Rychagova and Komardina both had to come from a set down to win their singles matches against Lana Rush and Freya Christie respectively. Britain went on to claim third place with a 3-0 win over Slovenia.

Having also won the Tennis Europe Winter Cups by HEAD in February, Russia now holds both the girls indoor and outdoor European team titles in the same season for the fifth time.

The 14 & Under Summer Cups tournaments have a double purpose, serving also as the European qualifying competition for the ITF World Junior Tennis event. The top five teams from both the boys' and girls' events will qualify to take part in the finals of the world's team event for Under 14s in Prostějov in August (alongside the Czech Republic, who qualify automatically as hosts).

Germany and Czech Republic challenge for European Tennis Trophy

Germany leads the overall European Tennis Trophy standings at the mid-way point of the season for a third consecutive year, while holders France are currently in a distant fourth position.

Germany's lead is largely due to points earned in the Senior Tennis subcategory, for which the majority of this year's points have already been allocated. However, the country is likely to be overtaken by several other nations in the coming weeks and months, as early exits from the international team competitions limit their potential to add points. Once again Germany will figure amongst the list of Trophy holders next year, having already accumulated sufficient points to secure the Senior Tennis Trophy for a 21st consecutive year.

Following some strong performances in team events, Czech Republic is in a good position to win their first ever Overall Trophy. The Fed Cup by BNP Paribas final between Czech Republic and Russia could prove to be the title decider, with the two nations virtually level after the first six months of the year. Russia currently holds a slight lead over the Czechs with the two nations occupying the top two spots in both the professional and junior trophy races.

The Netherlands has already stormed to a commanding lead in the Wheelchair Tennis Trophy race, having won both men's and women's competitions at the World Team Cup.

Czech success in international team competitions, such as the winning Tennis Europe Winter Cups by HEAD team (above) is one reason for their best Trophy showing in recent years.

The Trophy is designed to recognise the annual achievements of Tennis Europe's 49 member nations, providing a comprehensive overview of the performances of players and teams representing national tennis federations across four disciplines of the sport throughout the season.

The first Trophy Race update of 2011 includes all points earned by nations during the first six months of the year. Junior and Seniors tennis rankings that use a rollover 52-week system are not included to the points totals at this stage. The final European Tennis Trophy results will be revealed at the end of the year, with the awards presented to national federations at the 2012 Tennis Europe Annual General Meeting. European Outdoor Seniors Championships

The 2011 European Outdoor Championships for Seniors and Super Seniors were held during the week of 13-19 June, and once again saw some inspiring performances from the stars of the ITF Seniors Circuit, with champions travelling from as far as Australia and Canada to take part. The event was split across two venues, with players in the Over 40s to Over 55s age groups returning to the Rot-Weiss Club in the German town of Baden-Baden, which hosted the Championships for a 54th time, whilst the Super Seniors played in Pörtschach in Austria.

World #9 Taras Beyko of Canada won the Men's 40s event, ending 2009 champion Christian Arraya of Chile's hopes of a second European title for the loss of just three games. Beyko had a lucky break in the semi finals, when top seed Christoph Back (GER) was forced to retire after playing just one game.

In the Men's 45s, Stefan Burchard retained his crown, taking the title for a third time in four years. Burchard almost left the competition at the semi final stage, recovering from a set down to beat Spain's Carlos Costa 3-6 7-6(3) 6-2. The title match was a repeat of last year's final with Girts Dzelde of Latvia, but the result was the same, with the German posting a straight sets win.

Top seed Norbert Henn went one better than in 2010, winning the Men's 50s title in style. The German won all of his matches in straight sets, including a 6-0 6-0 win over seventh seeded compatriot Thomas Rothe in the final. Henn's 2010 conqueror Glenn Busby moved up to the 55s category this year and picked up where he left off, breezing to the title for the loss of just nine games in five matches, including a 6-0 6-2 dismissal of defending champion Andrew Rae in an all-Australian final.

In the doubles events, German pair Teo Jägersberg and Marc Bientzle won the 40/45s title after playing just one match, as their quarter and semi final opponents were forced to withdraw, while Pierre Godfroid

(BEL) successfully defended the 50/55s crown, teaming this year with Frits Rajmakers (NED).

The biggest surprise of the ladies' events saw Kathy Agnelli of Italy upset top seed and two-time defending champion Lucie Schwab-Zelinka of Austria in her first match before going on to take her maiden European title in the final of the 40s.

Klartje van Baarle of Belgium defended her 45s title with ease, beating Lisa Precht (GER) in the semis in a repeat of last year's final, before brushing past Pavla Mrázová (CZE) 6-1 6-1 for the title. Last year's Player of the Year Barbara Koutná (CZE) had to work harder to defend her 50s title, coming from a set down in the final to outlast Maria Rosa Bruno (ITA) 3-6 6-3 7-6(5).

There was another titanic battle in the Ladies' 55s, where Germany's Heide Eisterlehner fell at the final hurdle. Playing the event for the first time, American world #2 Carolyn Nichols won her first European title, ending Eisterlehner's six year unbeaten run in the Over 55s age group with a 6-3 5-7 6-4 win. Nichols also added the doubles alongside Lyn Mortimer (AUS).

Over in Pörtschach, top seeded Spaniard Jorge Camina Borda defended his Men's 60s title with a 5-7 6-0 6-2 win over Lubomir Petrov of Germany. The win marks Camina Borda's sixth European Outdoor seniors title in total, and he has now won the event in four consecutive years. The two finalists also paired up to win the doubles crown.

Peter Adrigan (GER) reclaimed the Men's 65 title that he last won in 2009 with a 6-0 6-2 win over Australia's John Rheinberger. In the 70s, record-breaker Peter Pokorný once again extended his incredible run of European Championship victories. Sadly, the final was a short-lived encounter, with Vittorio Monaco (ITA) being forced to retire with the core at 1-1 in the first set. Nevertheless, Pokorný becomes one of just two players to win European >> << Championship titles indoors and outdoors in 2011, and increases his total tally of singles titles to 33.

There was an all-German final of the 75s event, with Gerd Coldewey beating Günther Kindermann 6-2 6-3 for his first European title. The Men's 80s title saw Lorne Main defend his title with a win over Britain's Paul Drane, while Italy's Angelo Sala took the 85s event, a 7-5 6-2 winner over Stefan Stefanoff of Bulgaria.

A new winner was guaranteed in the Ladies' 60s event, with Sylvia Bauwens not defending her title. Third seed Alena Klein ensured that the trophy stayed in German hands, sweeping to the title without the loss of a set. Top seed Heide Orth re-claimed the Ladies' 65s title – her 30th European Championship win in total – surviving a fight back from Australian eighth seed Carol Campling to win 6-2 2-6 6-3. With the win, Orth joins Peter Pokorny as the only player to win indoor and outdoor European titles in 2011, the second consecutive year the pair has done so.

Zsafia Garaguly of Hungary won the 70s title when defending champion Renate Castellucci (GER) had to retire whilst trailing 7-5 4-6 1-4 in the final. There was no third time lucky for Ilse Michael in the 75s final. The German was runner-up for a third consecutive year, this time losing to American Doris De Vries. Finally, the 80s title went to Magdalena Jauch (GER), who beat 2010 Player of the Year Erzsebet Szentirmay (HUN) 6-2 6-0 in the final.

Spain wins Potter Cup

The International Lawn Tennis Club of Spain has won the 39 Potter Cup, XVIII Campionat Internacional de Catalunya de Veterans, IX Gran Premi Generalitat de Catalunya, which was hosted once again at the RC Polo of Barcelona and organized by the IC of Spain and the Catalan Tennis Federation during the weekend of 27-29 May 2011.

The Spanish team beat defending champions IC Italy decisively in the final. David De Miguel put Spain ahead, beating Giovanni Lelli Mami 6-0 6-2. Enrico Casadei briefly brought the visitors level, with a 6-0 6-1 win over Miquel Puigdevall. Carlos Costa-Bou then beat Massimiliano Sirchio 6-2 6-1, and Francisco Garcia clinched the tie with a 6-2 7-6(5) win over Edoardo Mazza. Eduard Osta ensured a 4-1 overall scoreline by beating Nando Cavalleri 6-4 6-2 in the last match.

The IC Spain began its campaign by beating IC Great Britain 5-0 in the first round, and survived a thrilling semi final against IC France, edging to a 4-3 win.

As every year, the players of this friendly tournament demonstrated a high standard of play in a competition that was played in festive spirits.

ITF/Tennis Europe Grand Slam 16&Under Team in Italy and France

This year's ITF/Tennis Europe 16 & Under Team recently took part in a 5-week tour of Italy and France. The tour began on 24th May with a training camp held at the Vavassory Academy in Palazzolo, Italy, where the team of four girls – Jelena Ostapenko (LAT), Dea Herdzelas (BIH), Tatjana Vorobjova (EST), Damira Muminovic (BIH) – and four boys – Pylyp Kekercheni (UKR), Mikheil Khmiadashvili (GEO), Paul Rares Andriuc (ROU), Arkadijs Slobodkins (LAT) – practised together for four days. The training camp gave the opportunity for the players and their coaches Irena Chichmarova (BLR) and Goran Shevchenko (MKD) to become acquainted before undertaking a tour of four of the top Tennis Europe 16 & Under Tour events of the summer. The tour began in Montecatini, before moving on to other Italian tournaments in Avvenire/Milan and Crema, and finishing in France with the prestigious Le Pontet event.

Most of the players tried to find their game at the first tournament in Montecatini. Jelena Ostapenko lost to Bianka Bekefi (HUN) 6-2 2-6 6-4 in the quarterfinal of the singles event while the best result at this tournament was recorded by Dea Herdzelas & Tatjana Vorobjova in the girls doubles event which they won, overcoming singles winner Guilia Pairone (ITA) and her partner Beatrice Lombardo (ITA) 7-6(4) 4-6 10-7.

The results improved at the Avvenire Tournament in Milano where Jelena Ostapenko was the star of the show. In the week that she celebrated her 14th birthday, she gave herself and the team the best present of all by winning the singles title at one of the most prestigious 16 & Under events in the world. In the final she beat Ivana Jorovic in straight sets, 7-5 6-2.

The next tournament in Crema was the most successful for the Tennis Europe Team. Jelena Ostapenko won her second singles in a row, against ITF/Asian Team player Ching-Wen Hsu 6-3 6-4 and showed once again that she is one of the best players on the tour. Pylyp Kekercheni reached his first semi-final in the singles event before losing to ITF/COSAT Team member José Andres Chamba Gomez 7-6(3) 6-2. Dea Herdzelas & Tatjana Vorobjova reached their second doubles final and lost to ITF/African Team members Ilze Hattingh (RSA) & Mayar Sherif (EGY) 6-3 6-1.

Next the players moved to Le Pontet in France, where the Team continued to post remarkable results. Tatjana Vorobjova showed her level by reaching the singles semis where she lost to the French player Coline Chauvet 6-4 6-7(5) 6-4 in a very long and dramatic match. Pylyp Kekercheni reached his second semi-final in the singles event, but lost to ITF/Asian Team player Krittin Koaykul (THA) 6-3 6-4. In the girls doubles event, Herdzelas & Vorobjova won their 2nd doubles title of the four-week tour.

The team coaches were delighted with the players' team spirit and hard work. The Tour provided an opportunity for these players to compete at some of the best events in the world for 16 & Under players. The high level of tennis and the chance to forge friendships with other players from around the world will undoubtedly help in their future tennis careers.

ITF/Tennis Europe Development Officer Hrvoje Zmajic added, "The Tennis Europe 16 & Under Team is very important as it provides competitive opportunities for players at a critical stage of their development. Besides working on their technical and tactical skills, at this stage of players' development it is crucial to foster their independency and leadership skills. The Team, composed of highly competitive players, creates an optimal environment for the development of these characteristics. I'd like to thank the Grand Slam Development Fund, whose funding supports the Touring Teams."

The Wimbledon finals served notice of seismic shifts at the top of the game, with Novak Djokovic completing his ascendancy to the world #1 spot and Petra Kvitova claiming her first Grand Slam title.

Djokovic continued his domination of men's tennis in 2011 to take both the world #1 spot and the Wimbledon title away from holder Rafael Nadal. In a match between the two best players in the world – and the winners of the two previous Grand Slam finals this year – the Serb put in a virtually faultless display over the first two sets, establishing a 6-4 6-1 lead. Nadal was able to capitalise on increasing numbers of errors to snatch the third set 6-1 and many expected Djokovic to fade as the Spaniard visibly grew in confidence, but the Australian Open champion broke through in a crucial eighth game before serving out for his fifth win of the year over rival Nadal.

Speaking afterwards, Djokovic said, "It's really hard to describe this with words but it is the best day of my life. I've always dreamed of this. I had to be at the top of my game and I think I played my best game ever on the grass courts." Djokovic's rise to the top spot has been a long time coming but cannot be disputed, having now won eight titles so far this year, and suffered just one loss in 49 matches.

Seven years ago, Maria Sharapova marched on to the Wimbledon centre court for her first Grand Slam final, and ruthlessly dispatched the heavy-favourite, Serena Williams, with a clinical display of nerveless power tennis that suggested a changing of the guard at the summit of the women's game. In 2011, the Russian was on the receiving end as Petra Kvitova stepped up to claim her maiden major title in a manner that suggested it would be the first of many.

As the rusty Williams sisters struggled to make an impact on returning to the sport after lengthy absences, Sharapova was installed as favourite to win from the early rounds, and did her part, advancing to the final with little trouble, though her highest ranked opponent had been #20 Shuai Peng of China. On the other side of the draw, Kvitova, who had announced her arrival by reaching the semi finals in 2010, had a tougher draw but rallied past last year's other semi-finalist Tsvetlana Pironkova (BUL) before ending Victoria Azarenka's (BLR) hopes of a first Grand Slam final. General consensus was that the experienced Sharapova would win her fourth Slam, but despite a break of serve in the opening game, the world #6 appeared the more nervous of the two players, littering the court with errors and unable to counter the Czech's power as she established a 6-3 lead.

The second set was closer as the pair traded breaks, but Kvitova showed steely determination in serving for the match at 5-4, closing the game to love with her first ace on championship point. As her court-side father burst into tears, Kvitova fell to her knees and said on court that she felt she had played her best ever match. She later paid tribute to the two Czech-born former champions that were in the royal box to support her, Martina Navratilova and Jana Novotna, explaining that as a child her father had shown her videos of Navratilova to inspire her. "They were so happy," she said of her supporters. "I cried after I met them...it meant a lot to me."

Sabine Lisicki was most talked about player in the women's doubles. The wild-carded German slipped out of the top 200 last year following a severe ankle injury, but has found a rich vein of form, winning the singles title in Birmingham before reaching the Wimbledon semi finals. In teaming with Sam Stosur, she also reached her first Grand Slam doubles final. The fairytale return was not to be capped with a title however, as the pair went down to Katarina Srebotnik (SLO) & Kveta Peschke (CZE), who won their fourth title of the year – and a first Slam together – with a 6-3 6-1 win that also ensured that they would take over as the new world #1s.

In the men's doubles, Bob & Mike Bryan overcame a testing second week to win their 11th Grand Slam (and second Wimbledon) title, equalling the all-time Slam record held by Australians Todd Woodbridge & Mark Woodforde. After a rain-affected first week, the twins had to play almost every day in week two, including a marathon 16-14 fifth set against Simon Aspelin (SWE) & Paul Hanley (AUS) in the third round, and a 9-7 fifth set against Michael Llodra (FRA) & Nenad Zimonjic (SRB) in the semi finals. Their final win over Robert Lindstedt & Horia Tecau meant that the Swedish-Romanian pair would finish as runners-up for a second consecutive year, and more or less ensures >>

Jurgen Melzer ended up with a Wimbledon trophy for a second consecutive year. Having won the men's doubles title last year, the Austrian teamed up with Czech Iveta Benesova to win the mixed doubles, beating fourth seeds Mahesh Bhupathi (IND) and Elena Vesnina (RUS) in straight sets. The win was Benesova's first Slam, and made her the third Czech woman to lift a trophy at Wimbledon 2011.

Britain's Liam Broady found himself in the limelight in the boys' singles, where he reached his first Junior Slam final against Australian Open runner-up Luke Saville. Broady, the 2008 Tennis Europe Junior Masters 14&U Champion, beat world #1 Jiri Vesely for a second consecutive week and rode an 11-match win streak to the final, but was unable to beat 16th seed Saville, who fought back from the loss of the first set to record a three-set win.

15-year old Ashleigh Barty completed an Australian juniors double the next day, winning the girls' singles over third-seeded Russian Irina Khromacheva, meaning 19 Grand Slams have now passed since a girl won more than one singles title. Eugenie Bouchard (CAN) and Grace Min (USA) won a marathon girl's doubles final, fightback from the loss of a 7-5 first set to win the next two 6-2 7-5.

The boys' doubles event was the final event to reach its conclusion, and was guaranteed to provide a home win, as top seeds Oliver Golding (GBR) & Jiri Vesely (CZE) took on George Morgan (GBR) & Mate Pavic (CRO). The lower-ranked pair eventually prevailed after coming from behind, breaking Vesely in the twelfth game of the final set to win their first junior Slam.

While Djokovic and Kvitova were clearly the stars of Wimbledon 2011, there were notable performances from many other players. Jo-Wilfried Tsonga's win over six-time champion Roger Federer after being two sets down was a highlight of the men's event, while back in the second round Venus Williams and 1996 semi-finalist Kimiko Date Krumm played a thrilling three-hour women's match under the centre court roof. European players were the main protagonists; all four men's semifinalists were from Europe and, for the first time ever, all eight women's quarterfinalists hailed from different European countries.

Beyond the Baseline...

A total of 8.7 million viewers in Great Britain were tuned into the men's Wimbledon final at its peak, compared with 4.8 million for the women's final.

The WTA Tour and Bulgarian Tennis Federation have announced that the Tournament of Champions, the annual season-ending event for the WTA's top International tournament winners, will take place in Sofia, Bulgaria in 2012, 2013 and 2014. The tournament will be staged at the brand new state-of-the-art Arena Sofia, to be unveiled in July 2011, and feature established and next generation stars competing for a share of $750,000 in prize money.

Up to 100,000 people took to the streets of Belgrade to welcome Novak Djokovic back to Serbia following his victory at Wimbledon where he also became the 25th world #1 in the history of the ATP World Tour rankings.

Rafael Nadal's spokesman has denied media reports that the Spaniard was playing with a stress fracture to the left foot at Wimbledon, saying he will be back on court for the US hard court season as planned.

New Wimbledon champion Petra Kvitova has withdrawn from next week's Gastein Ladies' Open in Austria citing a leg injury.

Former world #1 Justine Henin was back on Court One - at the scene of her career-ending elbow injury last week to cheer on Irina Khromacheva, a student of her academy, in the girls final.

Ana Ivanovic is now being coached by former LTA Head of Women's Tennis Nigel Sears.

Tickets for the tennis event at the 2012 Olympic Games in London sold out in the first round of sales.

The All-England Lawn Tennis Club is reportedly considering a roof for Court 1 at Wimbledon.

The draw for the 2012 Fed Cup by BNP Paribas will be held in Kobe, Japan, on Sunday 17th July, following the conclusion of the delayed World Group II Play off tie between Japan and Argentina.

This weekend sees a full programme of Davis Cup by BNP Paribas action. The World Group quarter finals see Sweden host Serbia in Malmo, Argentina hosts Kazakhstan in Buenos Aires, Spain travel to Texas to take on the United States, and Germany hosts France in Stuttgart. Three of the world's top four players will be action with Novak Djokovic, Roger Federer and Andy Murray all anchoring their teams.

Having shaved their heads on court following their final win in 2010, Janko Tipsarevic has vowed that should Serbia win another Davis Cup title this year, the team will jump from a plane together.

The ITF has confirmed that the Davis Cup final will be brought forward by two weeks in future, with the 2012 final set for November 16-18, and the 2013 final due to be played on Nov 15-17. The new dates will see the world's team championship final played the week after the ATP World Tour Finals.

Only three players – Victoria Azarenka, Petra Kvitova and Maria Sharapova – have reached the fourth round or better at all three women's Grand Slams so far this season.

Björn Borg and John McEnroe have collaborated on a new line of men's underwear.

The ATP has announced a prize money increase of 9% each year for the next three years, which will ensure total prize money exceeds $90 million by 2014.

Just days after winning the legends event at Wimbledon with Martina Hingis, former world #1 Lindsay Davenport has withdrawn from the World Team Tennis event as she is expecting her third child.

It has been revealed that should Roger Federer win another Wimbledon title, the charity Oxfam would receive over £200,000. A British man bet almost £2,000 in 2003 that the former world #1 would win seven titles by 2019. Though the punter passed away in 2009 just before Federer won his sixth title, he left any potential winnings in his will to the charity.

Tennis Europe Junior Tour Rankings – Overall

With effect from January 2010, Tennis Europe introduced a new junior ranking system, devised to give a unified overall list that shows the relative strengths of all players, regardless of where they achieved their results or picked up points,

A player's overall total includes points from Tennis Europe Junior Tour 16 and 14 & Under events, plus points earned by players in these age categories who participate in ITF Junior Circuit and professional tournaments, all of which are weighted according to their relative strengths.

The 14 & Under ranking is still available separately (see next page), as well as being integrated to these overall rankings. In addition, a 'Race to the Junior Masters' is also published (see Page 14). For more information on the rankings system, visit www.TennisEurope.org.

Romania's winning boys' Summer Cups team see their victory reflected in the new rankings, as Bogdan Borza and Nicolae Frunza take two of the top three spots, while Sergiu Bucur breaks into the Top Ten for the first time.

Expect big changes in the rankings next month, with the Tour's biggest prize - the European Junior Championships, just two weeks away. Full ranking lists can be found at www.TennisEurope.org.

European Tennis Rankings – Men & Women

There are surprisingly few changes to the European rankings following the conclusion of year's third Grand Slam.

The big news is obviously the coronation of Novak Djokovic, who climbs to the top spot, becoming the first Serb ever to top the European (or world) rankings, and ending the seven year duopoly of Roger Federer and Rafael Nadal. With a hefty 2,000 point lead over his nearest rival, Djokovic is likely to hold the top spot for some time to come. Elsewhere in the list, Richard Gasquet returns to the Top Ten following his fourth round appearance at Wimbledon, while last year's finalist Tomas Berdych slips to eighth.

Petra Kvitova's first ever Grand Slam title enables her to climb to sixth place, while Vera Zvonareva's failure to defend her final points from 2010 see her come under pressure from Maria Sharapova for the Russian #1 spot. Marion Bartoli's quarter final placing, coupled with her Eastbourne win, enable her to strengthen her position at #8.

Rankings as of July 4th, 2011.
